The Heiho is a spring assisted, compact, folding tactical knife designed James Williams Sensei. The knife utilizes a stainless steel InterFrame build with steel liners, one locking, and textured G10 handle scales that are machined with Japanese kanji characters that signify Strategy- system of strategy. A thumb disk allows rapid opening with either hand, and the custom stainless steel clip can be quickly and easily mounted right- or left-handed with a single screw, yielding knives that are truly ambidextrous.
