No one works harder than a rancher or a farmer. And their work environment can put a variety of demands on a simple folding knife. But our new Ranch Boss II can meet just about any challenge your work can dish out! Designed from the ground up for usefulness, durability and effectiveness, it offers a long, sharp, clip point blade that's flat ground out of high carbon steel. Honed razor sharp it folds up into an equally tough handle. Made with faux sawed bone handle scales, and reinforced with tough stainless steel bolsters, it will outlast nearly any brass frame folding knife. What's more, it comes with a stiff back spring (like a slip joint pocket knife) and a stainless steel liner lock, so your fingers will have extra protection. It's paired with a thick brown leather belt sheath, making the whole package an incredibly affordable bargain.
