Especially designed for the demands of contests. Axe head forged and fine polished. Perfect balance for optimum flight. Form and execution are up to the competition standards. With consecutive serial number. With high-quality hickory handle. Very appealing optic through a special wood treatment. 3x wedging of the handle effects a non-detachable handle join. With high-quality leather blade-protection.

Ox-Head is the official supplier of axes for the Stihl Timbersports Series.

Once used by aboriginal peoples as a hunting tool and weapon of war, this double-bladed axe began to be used by forestry workers in the last century for leisure purposes. During long stays in the extensive forests of Canada and the USA, axe-throwing competitions represented a welcome change from the rigours of everyday life. Today, the throwing axe is a high-quality item of sports equipment. Traditional championships with precisely defined rules are extremely popular. An increasing number of people around the world are becoming enthusiastic about this sport, with its high potential for enjoyment.
