The Shikoto Eternal Edge Wakizashi is hand-forged from premium T10 carbon steel, renowned for its strength and durability. The shorter blade with bohi is clay-tempered (differentially hardened) with an impressive edge hardness of 62 HRC and a visible hamon, ensuring razor-sharp cutting ability and authentic samurai craftsmanship. The ray skin-wrapped tsuka (handle) is secured with two mekugi pins, providing traditional stability and long-lasting strength. Each wakizashi also comes with a Certificate of Authenticity, confirming its superior quality and artistry. This makes it the perfect choice both for iaido practice and tameshigiri as well as a striking collectible wakizashi.

The elegant wooden saya (scabbard) is finished with a glossy black lacquer, enhancing the sword's timeless beauty while protecting the blade. Its traditional samurai tsuba honors the spirit of the warrior, making this samurai wakizashi not only a functional training weapon but also a refined piece of art.

This is an outstanding wakizashi for collectors, martial arts practitioners, and enthusiasts of Japanese swords.

Delivered in a solid wooden display box, the Shikoto Eternal Edge Wakizashi makes a prestigious and ready-to-gift samurai sword, an ideal present for any dedicated collector or practitioner.
