Bert the Troll takes great pride in his role as the group's cook. Though he fancies himself something of a gourmand, Bert's culinary experience and inspirations fail to elicit praise from his companions, William and Tom, who complain that all his meals taste the same. The proverbial floater in Bert's stew is the wheedling Tom, whom he cannot stand and takes every opportunity to berate or thump with his oversized ladle.

The second in our set of the three Trolls from The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey, Tom and William are also available to display as a set.

Bert the troll was played by Mark Hadlow in the movie. He is presented as a finely detailed miniature collectible designed and sculpted by Weta Workshop creature designer Andrew Baker, who made the conceptual designs for the trolls and other creatures in the movie.
