Among the numerous knives used during World War II, the "E G Williams Fighting Knife" stands out as one of the most popular. This is an authentic replica of the collection piece originally owned by E.G. Waterman of San Francisco, meticulously reproduced to honor its legacy.

The blade is crafted from hand-forged high carbon steel, expertly heat-tempered in a computer-controlled kiln for exceptional durability. True to the original, the blade's shoulder is stamped "E G W KNIFE." The contoured and grooved dark-finished wood handle, made from close-grained wood, provides a comfortable and secure grip, enhanced by front and rear hand guards. A lanyard ring is integrated into the pommel. The knife is designed to fit belts up to 2-1/2" wide. A top-grain leather sheath, riveted and sewn with waxed linen thread, completes this exceptional reproduction.
